

March 9th, 2020

Addendum to IFE student financial engagement

This addendum applies to students admitted to any IFE field study and internship program for the fall 2020 semester.

In light of uncertainty due to the going epidemic, IFE commits to the following exceptions to admitted students' financial engagement.

- The 300 EUR deposit will be refunded in the event that an admitted student is obliged to cancel their intended participation for reasons related the COVID-19 virus.*
- The student's engagement as indicated by the financial agreement signed at the time of application--specifically the deadline for full reimbursement--will not be enforced for students obliged to cancel their intended participation before arrival in the program for reasons related the COVID-19 virus.*

*Reasons related to the COVID-19 virus for canceling intended participation in IFE programs:

The country or region in which the program is located is assigned a Travel Health Notice of 3 by the CDC and a Travel Advisory level of 4 by the Department of State.

The student's university enacts a strict ban on study abroad in the country or region where the IFE program is located.

Institute for Field Education
Andalucía Asturias Brussels Paris Strasbourg